Next Statement July 16th.

The statement which appears today will be the last indication published of the standing of the contestants in the Tee-Dee outing contest before the final statement appears in the Times-Dispatch of next Thursday, 16th inst. There have been no very material changes in the standing of the leaders since the last announcement, but the "lucky fourteen" class are by no means so far removed from some of those on the outside as they were last week. One party with only eight coupons last week now occupies a place in the coveted fourteen class. That there will be "something doing" in the next two or three days goes without saying, for the indications are surely indicating, and it is believed by experts in this contest business that such things need watching.

In other words, it positively will not do to rest on your oars now on to the end if you want to come under the wire in the winners' class. There are thirty-nine entries so far, and for all you can tell the last may be first at the finish.

Boxes Sealed Tuesday. After next Tuesday night all coupons must be brought to The Times-Dispatch office. You can vote all day Wednesday up to 6 o'clock sharp, but all the voting must be done at The Times-Dispatch office. The boxes distributed about town

THE ACCEPTED PLANS FOR THE NEW SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH.

The new Second Baptist Church of this city, of which the above is an excellent likeness, will be, when erected, one of the handsomest houses of worship in the city. At a meeting held a few days ago, the plans for the new structure, as prepared by Messrs. Noland & Baskerville, the architects, were finally adopted and the Building Committee of the congregation authorized a publication of them, together with the picture above represented. The action of the committee marked the culmination of efforts which have been made for many days and weeks by the congregation toward getting everything in shape concerning the plans for the church. There was much delay and much discussion over the momentous question, but at last the matter has been settled. The design of the church above given shows the admirable result of this careful endeavor to secure such a building as would best suit the congregation.

The new church will be located on the southeast corner of Franklin and Adams Streets. It will be classic in design, with Corinthian columns, frieze and cornice. The main floor is reached by a broad flight of steps from Franklin Street, and the entrance is by three doors leading into a large vestibule. The Sunday school, which is located below the main auditorium, is entered from the grade on Adams Street. The slope of this latter street is sufficient to allow the Sunday school to be entirely above the grade at the rear of the building.

The classic design of the exterior is to be carried out in the interior. The main auditorium, which has a seating capacity of 800, will be decorated with Corinthian pilasters and an ornamental ceiling formed in large panels. To the right of the pulpit is located the choir, while on the opposite side is the baptistry. In the rear of the pulpit are three class-rooms for separate classes from the Sunday school. On the lower floor there is the Sunday-school room, with a seating capacity of 600, an infant class room, a large ladies' parlor and a kitchen. The Sunday school will be lighted by windows from three sides and will be a bright and cheery apartment.

Work on the church will probably begin this fall. The excavation will be done during the winter and next spring the building itself will be begun. The plans have been prepared by Messrs. Noland & Baskerville.

MYSTERIOUS PEOPLE VISIT BON AIR

Fair Maids Who Exercised Woman's Rights at Church Lawn Party.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) BON AIR, July 11.—The lawn party Friday night, for the benefit of the Bon Air Library, was quite a success. It took place on the lawn of the Presbyterian Church and was largely attended by the people of the village and surrounding section, as well as by the summer visitors. A neat sum for the library was realized from the sale of ices and cream. An unexpected and mysterious party attended and added to the festivities on the lawn, but it is said that because of the fact that the "gentlemen" of the party did not know how to find pants pockets they spent no money for cream. Who they were or whence they came no one seemed to know, but the two "women" were arrayed in a manner that indicated that they might have come direct from Worth's establishment in Paris, and the two "gentlemen" might have just stepped out of Stokes & Dunn's Broad Street parlors. After they had made merry with the lawn party people they took their departure, and ere long it leaked out that it was a kind of impromptu masquerade party, the two handsome "gentlemen" being two well known and popular ladies, and their "lady" friends being two Richmond guests, who were exercising woman's rights for this occasion only.

Superintendent Cleary, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, was the guest of Superintendent Kates, of the Postal, at the latter's handsome home in Bon Air one night this week. Mr. Cleary was so well pleased with the village he speaks of making it his home in the near future.

WHEN MOTHER SPANKED WILLIE "EXPLODED"

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 11.—When the mother of Willie Crosby, a patriotic four-year-old, laid him over her knee yesterday to punish him for misconduct, she did not know that in his hip pocket were hidden caps for a toy pistol. So when Mrs. Crosby applied her hand where a slipper is sometimes used there was an explosion. Willie's knickerbockers became inflated, and his cries of pain continued after the fond parent endeavored to soothe him. His burns were so serious and the pain so intense that he was taken from his home, at Eighth and Race Streets, to the Pennsylvania Hospital, where his burns were soothed with a lotion.

WOOD TO BE MADE A MAJOR GENERAL

President Intends to Promote His Friend, Though There May Be Opposition.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WASHINGTON, D. C., July 11.—A semi-official announcement has been made of the purpose of the President to promote Brigadier-General Leonard Wood to the grade of major-general. There has never been any question as to the desire of the President to promote his friend, but there has been a good deal of speculation lately as to whether he would do so in view of the fact that Wood has been publicly charged with the responsibility for the bitter attack upon Major-General Brooke and his administration in Cuba. Senator Quay, who is a close friend of General Brooke, has taken considerable interest in the charge against him and when the time comes for Wood's nomination to be confirmed by the Senate it is the understanding he will have a good deal to say on the subject. Secretary Root left tonight for Oyster Bay for the purpose of conferring with the President about army matters. It is expected an official announcement about Wood's promotion will be made within a day or two. Senator Hanna also opposes General Wood on account of the General's connection with the prosecution of Major E. G. Rathbone, former director-general of the Cuban postal service. At the same time the promotion of Brigadier-General Samuel Sumner to be major-general, upon the retirement of Major-General George W. Davis on July 20th, will be announced.

TOOK BRIDES' KISSES FOR WEDDING FEES

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) RINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 11.—A romantic double wedding took place at Hancock, N. Y., when two brothers and two sisters from Gibson, Pa., were married by Judge H. M. Read. The two pairs were Glen W. Morgan and Elizabeth Richards and Bert W. Morgan and Anna Richards. A unique sequel to the strange nuptial coincidence was the acceptance of kisses from the lips of the blushing brides as his fees for performing the ceremony, the judge gallantly remarking that he was amply paid by this substitute for legal tender of the United States.

CHANCE TO WIN WIFE BY FORTUNE'S WHEEL

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) PITTSBURGH, July 11.—A novel feature in connection with the 5th anniversary of the Avalon Volunteer Fire Department, which will be celebrated July 16th and 17th, will be the operation of a huge wheel of fortune. Among the prizes which will be offered will be an introduction to a young woman, a resident of the borough, who will offer her hand to the successful winner of the chief prize, providing both are satisfied with each other.

MEETING OF THE VIRGINIA PRESS

Annual Session of the Body at Ocean View on Tuesday.

The annual meeting of the Virginia Press Association will be held at Ocean View this week, beginning on Tuesday, and lasting three or four days. The association now has the largest membership of its existence, a considerable number of new members having been added during the present year, and the attendance will be perhaps the largest ever known. The meeting will be called to order on Tuesday afternoon, but little will be done at that session except to appoint the usual committees. However, if the attendance is sufficiently large the president's address will probably be read. The association will meet Wednesday morning for business, and several papers of interest will be read by Mr. A. B. Williams, editor of the Richmond News Leader; Mr. E. R. Chesterman, associate editor; Mr. A. S. Graveley, editor of the Norfolk Herald; Miss Bryce, editor of the Religious News; Mr. Bryce, editor of the Hoppergrass, of Ashland, and Mr. Carter Glass, editor of the Lynchburg News.

Mr. Williams will draw a contrast between journalism at the North and journalism at the South. Mr. Chesterman's subject has not yet been announced. It will be a surprise. Mr. Graveley will read a paper on "Newspaper Manners," and a paper on "The Evolution of the Religious Newspaper." Miss Bryce will speak on "Woman's Work in Journalism," and Mr. Glass will speak on "The Relation of the Newspaper to Government."

It is probable that representatives of the Jamestown Exposition Company will appear before this association and speak of the progress which the company is making in its work. Dr. R. H. Pitt, editor of the Norfolk Herald, is expected to speak of the bill introduced in the last Legislature to amend the libel law.

On Thursday the association will enjoy an excursion to be tendered by the Norfolk Railway and Light Company. This excursion will be over the trolley and steamboat lines enjoyed by the company, and will be a most enjoyable feature of the occasion. On Thursday night the association will have a complimentary banquet from Mr. J. H. Davidson, manager of the Ocean View Hotel. The banquet will be informal, but there will be remarks by members here and there, and the genuine flow of newspaper wit.

On Friday the election of officers for the next year will take place, and the business of the association wound up. Some of the members will doubtless stay over until the following week, but there will be a formal adjournment on Friday morning.

MOTHER WOULD KILL SUFFERING CHILDREN

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WASHINGTON, PA., July 11.—Jane Collins, a resident of the borough, who attempted to kill her two small children yesterday when they had smallpox. The children had been ill for several days. A physician to-day pronounced their ailment smallpox. Their mother lost her senses from grief, and, seizing an axe, attempted to kill the little ones. It took three men to disarm her.

LIGHTNING SNATCHED HIM BALD-HEADED

Strange Result Followed Accident Which Befell a Shamokin Engineer.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) SHAMOKIN, PA., July 11.—Physicians who have investigated the strange case of Walter Reinhardt, say that the young man will soon be as bald as a billiard ball. His hair is falling out literally by the handful. Reinhardt, who is a mining engineer, was struck by lightning last week while at work. He was resuscitated with difficulty. Almost immediately his hair began to fall out in patches. He appealed to several physicians, but none of them can give him any hope. They are astonished at the strange effect of the electricity, but say that it has killed the roots of the hair and that Reinhardt will be absolutely bald in a few days.

A BRAVE GIRL'S MEMORY HONORED

The memory of Miss Robbie Yeager, the young hospital nurse who contracted a fatal case of smallpox while attending a patient at the City Hospital, will be fittingly honored. Her grave has been surrounded by an iron railing and marked by a granite headstone. A tablet has been prepared and it will be fixed upon the walls of the hospital. Upon the death of Miss Yeager the City Council appropriated $26 to prepare suitable and lasting testimonials of her memory, heroism and sacrifice. The slab and the protected and honored grave is the result. The committee of the Council, having the matter in charge, of which Mr. Marx Gunst is chairman, has not yet received the work, but when it has been adjudged satisfactory, the tablet will be lifted to its position upon the wall and unveiled, possibly with simple ceremonies.

GRIM HOODOO MEETS HER DAY AFTER DAY

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 11.—Falling and breaking her wrist and being twice struck by a trolley car is the remarkable record of misfortune which has befallen Mary Reuber, a young woman of Second and Race Streets, within five days. Monday she was struck by a trolley car in front of her home while crossing the street, and was slightly injured. Yesterday she again appeared at the Pennsylvania Hospital, with her wrist fractured. After this was placed in splints and she had started on her way home, she was struck by another car at Fifth and Spruce Streets, and was returned to the hospital in a patrol wagon. This time her back was badly bruised.

'SKEETER POISON KILLS FINE COW

Animal Ate Grass Sprayed With Kerosene and Died from the Dose.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) ORANGE, N. J., July 11.—Since the anti-mosquito army got busy in an effort to rid South Orange of mosquitoes many residents have detected a taste of kerosene in their milk. David McCullough, a dairyman, of No. 455 Irvington Avenue, South Orange, found one of his valuable Alderneys writhing in pain. There was a distinct odor of kerosene in the air. He summoned Dr. T. Earle Budd, of Orange, but the cow died before Dr. Budd's arrival. An autopsy showed the cow had died from kerosene poisoning. After that McCullough and his neighbors discovered the meadows where many of the cows had been pasturing had been sprayed with kerosene by some one trying to get rid of mosquitoes. "Mont Clair is suffering from a plague of mosquitoes," said Captain Gulgon, arising.

THE BRICKLAYERS TO STAND SUIT

Mr. William L. Royall, attorney for the Sitterding-Carnel-Davis Company, has completed his declaration in the damage suit he is to bring for this company against certain members of the bricklayers' union for alleged boycott. The contractors mentioned are Messrs. W. D. Davis, L. Thomas, McDonough & Owens, George L. Powers & Brother, W. J. Ready, Smith & Hall and Redford & Garrett. The union men are charged with unlawfully, wilfully and maliciously conspiring to intimidate and coerce the contractors named by refusing to purchase material from the company, with a view to coercing and intimidating P. Sitterding into using his influence to settle the street car strike. The suit is brought against individuals, as the union is not a corporation.

RUSSIA REJECTS A NEGRO PETITION

(By Associated Press.) LONDON, July 11.—The Russian Ambassador in London, according to the Catholic Herald, has refused to receive a petition relative to the treatment of negroes in the United States, and forward it to the Czar, as requested by the Catholic Herald. The petition draws attention to the "increasing outrages on negroes" and urges the Russian government to make representations to Washington, asking the authorities there to take steps in the interests of civilization and humanity, to suppress the growing evil. The Catholic Herald says the petition will be sent direct to St. Petersburg.

CONSTABLE ANGLE IS PUNISHED

Fined Five Dollars and Costs Yesterday.

DISMISSAL OF THE GUIGON CASE

Some Interesting Testimony Before Justice Lewis.

FARLEY IS FINED; PUT UNDER BONDS

An Appeal Taken in the Case of the Chief of the Strikebreakers, Who Was Accused of Threatening to Kill Striker Mann. Much Interest in Both Cases.

Before Squire James T. Lewis, sitting in the Magistrate's Court of Henrico, there was tried yesterday the famous Guigon-Angle case, in which an officer of the law was charged with assault, and one of the most prominent attorneys of Richmond, with using abusive language. As a result of the proceedings of the day, the warrant against Mr. Guigon was dismissed and a fine was imposed upon Mr. Angle.

Quite a number of people were at the courthouse again, and quite a lot of interest was taken in the cases. The military threat against the strikebreakers and the case of the strikebreaker Mann, charged with threatening to kill a striker named Mann. In this case Farley, as told immediately below, was fined and put under bond, from which decision of the court an appeal was taken by counsel for the company.

The Farley Case.

The first case of the morning was that Farley, chief of the strikebreakers, charged with threatening to kill a striker named Mann. This is the case that was begun Friday afternoon, but was not completed. The Commonwealth had endeavored to show, through expert witnesses, that Farley, during the strike period, had threatened to kill Mann because he was trying to induce some of the strikebreakers to leave the company. The defense introduced witnesses to show that Farley had made no such threat, and that all he said was in reply to what was first said by Mann himself. Mann, it was claimed, had said he would cut Farley's heart out, and Farley replied to him that if he tried it he would get as good as he sent.

There were discrepancies in the testimony of both sides, but Captain Gulgon, claimed a preponderance of the evidence, and declared that though the witnesses for the defense had flatly contradicted statements made by Farley, yet it was inconceivable that there were two irreconcilable statements—that Farley did threaten and that Farley did not threaten—the prisoners should always be given the benefit of the doubt, as His Honor has often ruled. As to the charge of assault, and as to the charge of using abusive language, Farley was fined $5 and kept the peace for 60 days. "We appeal promptly for your Honor," said Captain Gulgon, arising.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the Angle-Gulgon case, or more accurately, the case of Captain Alex Gulgon, charged with abusive language, and of Constable Myer Angle, charged with assaulting Captain Gulgon, was called for trial. Great interest was manifested in the proceedings, the matter being looked upon by many as the most important of the string of cases which have kept Henrico courthouse more or less in the center of the stage since the arrest of Major Miles Martin and Mr. Ernest H. Wells represented Captain Gulgon.

Counsel for the company did not look with favor upon the suggestion of Squire Lewis that the two warrants be set up as a joint case, but as a matter of convenience for the benefit of Mr. Wells, he consented to having the Angle matter called first. The Angle warrant was thereupon called and Captain Gulgon who swore it out was placed upon the stand at once. In opening his testimony the witness stated that on the 29th of June, and the arrest of Farley on the 30th, and of his conversation with the chief of police, as a result of which the chief of the strikebreakers was to be taken to the courthouse in Mr. Gulgon's buggy. After Farley had entered the buggy and prepared to drive down town, there was quite a large crowd present, and as the vehicle began to move away cries and jeers were heard. There were yells at Farley of "Give him ten minutes" and so on. Finally one man cried, "Hang him! Hang him!"

When in the midst of an excited crowd language of so incendiary a character was used Captain Gulgon said he demanded the arrest of the person who was guilty of the insult. He was standing a few feet from him, and a few feet further on was Constable Myer Angle, who was perhaps the same distance from the alleged offender as the witness, maybe nearer to him. He called to the constable to place Abbott under arrest, but Angle refused to do so, and so far as he could removed himself out of the other direction. Abbott began to run and Captain Gulgon to run after him in order that he might keep the fugitive in sight. Somebody called to Abbott to stop and face the constable and this he did. Several of the county officers thereabout came up and the young man was placed under arrest. The question as to witnesses of the
